Match Report: Due to the unavailability of a number of Stragglers who had played in this most enjoyable fixture in recent years, (the lunch in The Griffin Pub is always terrific) the match manager was grateful to receive the assistance of his Martlets' opposite number Nigel Russell, in raising a team for the game. Having chosen to bat first, we were 132 for 5 at lunch on a slow wicket. Tim Hamilton batted well to score 50 before lunch with an array of fine offside strokes. Apart from Ian Hartland, a guest, there was insufficient support for Tim to allow us to build a score which was going to genuinely trouble our opponents. 149 would never be enough to deter the Martlets from seeking their first victory in three years. Two quick wickets from Ben Sim set the cat amongst the pigeons. However, some steady accumulation in two lengthy partnerships saw our opponents to victory. Ben Sim and the indomitable Bill Kincaid both bowled with application and intelligence with good support in the field. However, the Martlets ran out worthy victors this year.
